

My ideal role

Thinking about all the roles and careers we have learned about today, which one do you think might suit you best? What skills do you have to match it, and what is good and bad about the role? Is there anything you would do to change the role to be better, or to help you carry out the responsibilities?

Role - Train driver

How my skills match -

I'm passionate, confident, observant, cautious and willing to learn.

Pros:

- Work alone,
- Seeing scenery,
- Using the controls,
- Route learning,

Cons:

- Exams,
- Remembering stations,
- Learning physics,
- Learning maths,
- Emergency situations,

How I would improve or adapt the role -

I would need help in learning physics, maths and reactions. Because I struggle a lot and have some learning difficulties. But I will try very hard. Please encourage my confidence.
